

PERILOUS TIMES

The times in which we live today
Are perilous indeed.
Morality is in decay;
There's so much lust and greed.

As this world sinks into the mire
Of decadence today,
The Church of God should be on fire
With zeal to go God's way.

As time grows short, we must repent
Of vain and foolish jesting.
This precious time should not be spent,
Upon our laurels, resting.

If, in Christ's footprints, we have trod,
And never turned aside,
The Ever-Living Word of God
Will always be our guide.

For He will never leave His flock;
Of this, we need not fear.
A Mighty Fortress, is our Rock,
To those whom He holds dear.

The time of punishment is sure;
On God, we must depend.
Then all our trials we'll endure,
Steadfast, until the end!

By Maggie Brannon